Parks for London - Background

Parks for London is a registered charity, incorporated as a company (limited by guarantee) in June 2013 and given charitable status in March 2014. The Charity exists in broad terms to protect, maintain, improve and promote London's green infrastructure and to ensure it meets the needs of the 21st century. It does this by working with London's land managers and policy makers; Parks for London does not currently have a national remit however potential future changes are addressed in its current Business Plan - 2020-21 to 2022-23.

Governance of the Charity

Parks for London has adopted the Charity Code of Governance. The 7 principles of the Code are reviewed and discussed quarterly with its Board of trustees, in relation to the Charity's activities and practices.

Parks for London has an up to date risk register in place which addresses potential risk areas (governance, external, regulatory and compliance, financial and operations), corresponding controls and actions required to mitigate risks. Risks in relation to safeguarding are addressed under governance. Safeguarding risks in relation to vulnerable groups are currently considered to be extremely low, due to the nature of the Charity's work and related activities. The register is reviewed by the Board quarterly.

A risk management statement is given in the trustee's annual report, which covers all major risks the Charity faces and how it seeks to control them. Management of risk is also integrated into Parks for London's annual strategic and business planning process.

Introduction

Creating a safe and welcoming environment, where everyone is respected and valued, is at the heart of safeguarding. Every organisation that delivers charitable activities has a duty to safeguard staff members, volunteers, participants and donors; the Charity Commission expects charities to make safeguarding a priority.

Parks for London seeks to promote a fair, open, inclusive and positive culture, that actively prevents harm, harassment, bullying, abuse and neglect of staff, volunteers and others who may be involved with the Charity. All, should feel able to report concerns, confident that they will be taken seriously and that appropriate action, where necessary, will be taken swiftly.

This safeguarding policy addresses 'adults at risk from harm' (see note 1), 'children' (see note 2) and general issues around safeguarding. Safeguarding for staff and volunteers is touched on in this policy, however it is fully addressed in the Parks for London Staff Handbook.

Policy

Parks for London acknowledges its duty of care to safeguard and promote the welfare of children and to safeguard and protect adults at risk from harm; as well as its staff and volunteers.

The statutory guidance and legislation for managing safeguarding duties for children and adults at risk from harm is different (these are outlined in notes 5 and 6). Parks for London is committed to ensuring that its' safeguarding practices meets statutory requirements, good practice and reflect current issues.

Parks for London has a duty protect its staff and volunteers (see note 7) from harm or abuse. This means being aware of particular types of harm that can develop within an organisation, such as: physical; sexual; emotional; psychological; neglect; radicalisation; discriminatory; and financial. Parks for London has the following policies and procedures in place, to protect its staff and volunteers: Grievance, Health and Safety, Bullying and Harassment and Whistleblowing. Except for Whistleblowing these policies are contained in the Staff Handbook.

Parks for London's does not currently undertake any 'regulated activity' (see note 4) or any other work or activities with children or adults at risk from harm, nor does it undertake any such activities directly with the general public.

Parks for London is a small charity, which seeks to increase its impact by collaborating with other like-minded organisations*¹ with an interest in green infrastructure. Parks for London has collaboration agreements in place with several businesses and may from time to time organise events, conferences or launches with other organisations. Such collaborations do not involve any regulated activity or otherwise with children or adults at risk from harm.

With reference to safeguarding guidelines, policies and procedures put in place, must be proportional to the level of risk involved. The following policy and procedural measures are considered appropriate for the level of risk, based on current activities and will be reviewed regularly.

Parks for London will ensure:

- Ensure that all staff are subject to rigorous recruitment procedures, to ensure suitability to act in their role within the organisation;
- Ensure that all staff receive appropriate induction and training, including safeguarding awareness and the practices of the Charity there in;
- Identify a member of staff as a Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) to be responsible for ensuring that safeguarding procedures are carried out and that staff and trustees are aware of the current policy and procedures;
- Ensure recruitment of trustees follows due process, as outlined in the Charity's governing document and eligibility checks are undertaken;
- Identify a trustee to take lead responsibility for safeguarding at a governance level;

¹ Organisations that Parks for London collaborates with, by way of collaboration agreements or otherwise, will be subject to the Charity's guidelines on partnering with other organisations.

- Establish procedures that minimise the risk of harm or abuse to individuals in relation to Parks for London’s work, events and activities;
- Establish procedures for reporting and recording, concerns and/or suspected abuse or harm.

- The DSL will be the first point of contact for any questions about Park for London's safeguarding policy and procedures and for the reporting any concerns (from an individual internally or externally). If a concern is urgent and the DSL is not available, the Chief Executive should be the next port of call, followed by the trustee with responsibility for safeguarding. Different concerns will require different actions for example if a situation is life threatening the emergency services should be called immediately; where a child or adult at risk from harm, is in immediate danger or risk of harm, the local authority safeguarding team or police should be called [see note 10 and appendix B for more information].

Notes to the policy

1. Any adult may experience abuse or harm, however, certain people are at greater risk, so are given more protection by law; ‘Adults at risk of harm’ [replaces the term ‘vulnerable adult’] are defined under the Care Act 2014, as those who:
 - Have needs for care and support (whether or not the local authority is meeting any of those needs) and;
 - Are experiencing, or is at risk of, abuse or neglect and;
 - As a result of those care and support needs is unable to protect themselves from either the risk of, or the experience of, abuse or neglect.
2. ‘Children’ refers to individuals that have not yet reached their 18th birthday.
3. Disclosure and Barring Service [DBS] helps employers make safer recruitment decisions by processing and issuing DBS checks for England, Wales, the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man. It also maintains the adults' and children's Barred Lists and makes considered decisions as to whether an individual should be included on one or both lists and barred from engaging in regulated activity.
4. Regulated Activity - is a term used to describe certain job functions carried out by an employee [as defined by the (DBS)], which will determine eligibility for an Enhanced Level DBS check and a check of the DBS Barred Lists. Regulated Activity is broken down into two separate groups ‘Activity with Children’ and ‘Activity with Adults’.
5. The Charity Commission expects charities working with persons under 18 years of age to follow the government’s guidance on Working Together to Safeguard Children. The most important pieces of legislation detailing legal duties to safeguard and promote the welfare of children are: The Children Acts 1989 and 2004.
6. The Charity Commission expects charities working with adults at risk from harm to follow their guidance and work with the appropriate local authority who hold the main legal duty to safeguard adults at risk. This requirement comes from The Care Act 2014. The Care Act requires all local authorities to have a Safeguarding Adults Board (SAB) that operates at a strategic level to protect adults.
7. Parks for London currently employs 2 full time members of staff, the CE and Admin and Finance Manager. The Charity may occasionally work with a volunteer recruited via REACH, to undertake a dedicated piece of work.
8. More information about different types of harm/abuse relating to children can be found at and for adults at the Ann Craft Trust

Acting on reports of concern or risk of harm to others

Emergency Incidents

This is when there's a life-threatening situation or where there's imminent danger and harm to a child, young person or adult. In such cases the DSL or other senior member of staff should:

- Immediately contact the emergency services if not already done
- Make sure the current situation is safe.
- Establish how others are coping to see if they need any immediate support
- Inform a senior person in your organisation.

Child or adult protection concerns

This is when a child, young person or adult at risk from harm (who you believe is unable to protect themselves) is at current risk of, or has experienced, abuse or harm. In such cases the DSL or other senior member of staff must:

- Call the local authority safeguarding team or the police if the person is in immediate danger, or the abuse has happened where they live, immediately;
- Call the local authority safeguarding team within 24 hours and make a telephone referral, if they're not in immediate danger;
- Be guided by the safeguarding team or police on any further actions required of you. Always follow up your call with a written referral.

Allegations concerning staff or volunteers

If someone has alleged that staff or volunteers from Parks for London have harmed or abused a child or adult at risk from harm, the DSL or other senior member of staff must:

- Contact the local authority safeguarding team as soon as possible (within 24 hours);
- Be guided by them on any further actions required;
- Reading on managing allegations about children: managing allegations of abuse (from NSPCC Learning).

Where such allegations do not involve the aforementioned groups the DSL should:

- Follow the organisational disciplinary procedures.
- Contact the relevant senior person in the organisation as soon as possible within 24 hours to discuss the concern.
- Decide the next steps together, which might include an internal investigation.

Welfare concerns

This is when no one has been harmed in any way, but you or someone else have concerns about a child, young person or adult at risk relating to their health, wellbeing or safety if they don't get help.

Within seven days the DSL should speak with the person and when it is appropriate speak with their family or carer to explain your concerns and make sure they have the support they need. This may mean providing information about services or speaking to a lead professional involved.

Concerns about other organisations

This is a situation where the safeguarding concern is about another organisation, their staff, volunteers or the people they work with. The DSL should:

- Contact the DSL of the organisation in question (within 24 hours) and pass on concerns.
- In some circumstances the DSL may decide to follow up with the organisation to confirm they have acted on the issue.
- If at any point the DSL is aware that the organisation has not acted and someone is at risk, the local safeguarding team should be contacted.

Supporting those who report/share a concern

Whilst the primary concern should be the best interests of the person who is at risk of harm, there should be an awareness that the person sharing a concern may also be distressed by the situation, even if they are reporting on behalf of someone else. The DLS should:

- Thank them for bringing this concern to your attention and that they have fulfilled their key responsibility;
- Explain that you will now take responsibility in leading management of this concern and any contact with statutory agencies;
- Highlight that there may be limited updates that you have or can give them on the situation; that does not mean that it was not important for them to share this;
- Remind them of the importance of confidentiality and not sharing this information further;
- Ensure they have your contact details in case they think of anything else they have not yet shared that they think may be relevant;
- Discuss with them what additional support they may require. This may include informing a senior member of staff that they have dealt with a difficult situation, contacting any employee assistance programme or supporting them to access additional support;
- Consider contacting them later to check in on how they are doing.
